

Call for proposals

Scientific programs at Institut Henri Poincaré (Paris)

The Institut Henri Poincaré (IHP) is opening a call for proposals for various scientific programs, in particular, thematic programs to be held in 2023. Programs last for 6 or 12 weeks, and can focus on any cutting-edge topics in mathematics, physics, and close fields such as computer science.

The aim is to stimulate discussions and to foster collaborations among participants, with the goal of generating new ideas and developing new tools and methods.

IHP provides logistic and financial support to accepted projects.
